Still After Parnell.

By Cable and Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Irish members of Parliament reassembled this afternoon, their deliberations being conducted with extra precaution for secrecy.

The first business transacted was the reading of Gladstone's letter in reply to the committee. Gladstone remains firm in his determination to in no way recognize Parnell as the leader of the Nationalists, and his positiveness is emphasized by this letter, in which he offers to conduct negotiations with a new Irish leader on a footing of confidence equal to that which he once accorded Parnell. The reading of the letter was greeted with cheers by the section of the party opposing Parnell and ironical cries by his supporters.

A stormy debate followed. Darcy, Sexton and Healy made a determined attempt to bring about a final settlement of the question. They insisted there should be an immediate division of the members on the main question before the meeting, namely, the retirement of Parnell from the leadership.

Finally Sexton gave Parnell his ultimatum to the effect that if a decision of the question is delayed by Parnell after 6 o'clock this evening, the majority would hold a meeting of their own and depose him from office. A scene of great excitement followed. At 2:45 o'clock a recess was taken for half an hour.

At 3:15 o'clock the members re-assembled. A strongly worded letter from Archbishop Walsh was read demanding Parnell's removal. The reading of this letter produced a marked effect.

John O'Connor moved the adoption of a resolution declaring Gladstone's letter was not satisfactory and that Ireland required assurances regarding the constabulary and land questions. The motion was seconded by Kenny.

Mr. Abraham then made a motion that Parnell vacate the chairmanship. Parnell refused to allow the resolution to be put, whereupon McCarthy, followed by 44 other members, left the room.

An exciting incident arose from Parnell's refusal to put Abraham's motion as written. A resolution to that effect being handed in by Justin McCarthy.

Parnell leaned across the table, struck McCarthy's hand and seized the resolution and tore it to pieces.

Justin Huntin McCarthy, son of Justin McCarthy, arose from his seat and denounced Parnell as having insulted his father and an enemy to his country. He declared he had hitherto acted with Parnell, but henceforth he would repudiate him. The defection of the younger McCarthy raised the total number of anti-Parnellites to 45.

The opponents of Parnell, who withdrew from the meeting in a body, are now holding a meeting in the conference room and are electing officers.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The Irish envoys have decided to leave for New York this evening unless later advice from London shall make it expedient for them to remain longer. Their object in going to New York is to get close to the American end of the cable. They declined to make any comments on the result of the proceedings of the Irish Nationalist meeting at London to-day, pending the receipt of intelligence of the final action of the Parnellite and anti-Parnellite factions.

Not Quilty.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—The preliminary examination of Max Somner, charged with forging a postal money order, was held to-day and the defendant was discharged, it being shown that the similarity in the firms named to his receiving a money order belonging to another firm, which he cashed, and that he had no intention of committing forgery.

An Assignment.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Edward Amundson, a dry goods dealer, at 58 and 60 Worth street, made a personal assignment this morning.

Continue To Fall

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—A special from New York says: The cotton house of Voss Meyer has suspended; liabilities, $2,500,000; assets, $3,000,000. This is the third largest cotton house in the country. They will ask for a suspension, and say they will pay dollar for dollar. The financial panic and the slowness of collections, and the decline in the prices of cotton are the chief causes. The firm is interested in many cotton and sugar plantations. It is feared the wreck will involve several other firms. Solomon Meyer is manager of the New York firm and part proprietor of the Port Gibson cotton mills, Natchez cotton mills, and the Randelman plaid and stripes manufacturers of North Carolina. Adolph Meyer was recently elected to Congress and Victor Meyer is Vice-President of the Union National Bank.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6.—The firm was one of the oldest cotton houses in the city and has done a very large business for years, both under the present firm's name and as Meyer, Wicks & Co. The establishment enjoyed a high reputation and had a large trade in the neighboring States in cotton. The firm also controlled several fine sugar estates. Among their assets are 18,000 bales of cotton.

Stock Market.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Opening sales generally showed fractional declines. Sugar receipts and National lead are each off 1 1/2 and Western Union 1. A semi-panic condition existed during the first 20 minutes, when on large transactions, all active stocks were further depressed. A slight rally followed, when the market for a time became more quiet, but a liquidation had been fairly started and everything afterward reached fractionally lower figures.

The market throughout was narrow and the general list was neglected. Seven-eighths of the business done was in less than a dozen stocks, among which Union Pacific, Atchison and Northern Pacific preferred were the most conspicuous. Later the decline was checked and prices began to crawl upward slowly.

At 11 o'clock the market was comparatively quiet and firm.

Less Conciliatory than Expected.

By Cable and Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Press Association says Gladstone's written reply to questions concerning the Irish constabulary and a settlement of the agrarian difficulty, indited at the request of the committee of nationalists which visited him yesterday, was less conciliatory than the committee expected. It is reported that Gladstone refuses absolutely to enter into any negotiations regarding these questions until Parnell's retirement is an accomplished fact.

DUBLIN, Dec. 6.—The "Freeman's Journal" says: Gladstone's letter was received last night, and was considered by a committee for three hours. The document went very much beyond the question of granting an interview, being something in the nature of a counter manifesto.

Still in Session.

OCALA (Fla.), Dec. 6.—The Farmers' Alliance this morning discussed the amendments to the platform adopted yesterday, looking to restricting the powers of the President in disciplining editors of the Alliance newspapers. The Alliance will listen to an address by T. V. Powderly this afternoon.

Complaint was made that the Government relied too much upon information furnished by uninformed Congressmen. The Committee on Agricultural Statistics reported, proposing a committee of five Alliance Congressmen to make arrangements to get the statistics so that the people will not be dependent on the reports from the Government statisticians. They are to co-operate with the Alliance crop statisticians.

Congressional Proceedings.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Saturday next has been set aside for the consideration of bills reported from the Committee on Private Land Claims.

Paddock presented a protest of the Farmers' Alliance now in convention at Ocala, Florida, against the passage of the Conger land bill.

Sherman introduced three bills and one amendment, all of which were referred to the Finance Committee. The new bills are as follows: To amend the law relating to refining and parting of bullion; to amend the act authorizing the receipt of gold coin in exchange for gold bars; and a bill authorizing the recognition of subsidiary coins of the United States. The amendment is one to a Senate bill to reduce the amount of U. S. bonds required of national banks.

Weather Forecast.

A Perilous Mission by Father Jute.

By Associated Press.
PINE RIDGE, Dec. 6.—The most perilous mission a man of God has undertaken for many days in the interest of averting great bloodshed was completed yesterday, when good Father Jute, a Catholic priest, whom General Brooks requested to go out and talk with the rampantly hostile Indians, returned to the Agency. He was the only white man who might ever think of ever making the trip and living to get back. He was accompanied by Jack Red Cloud, who went by reason of being a widely respected son of the famous chief. Ten miles from the hostile camp they were halted by the pickets and conducted to the camp under cover of Winchester. A conference followed, at which there were present Two Strike, Turning Bear, Short Bull, High Hawk, Crow Dog, Kicking Bear, Eagle Pipe, High Pipe and Big Turkey.

Father Jute opened the council by asking the chiefs to state their grievances, and the reply was substantially as follows: "We object to the recent census returns made by Lee. His enumeration would not give food sufficient for us to live on. Lee puts us down many less for each tepee than the tepees contain. We shall starve, but we will have one big eat before starving time comes. After that we shall fight our last fight, and the white man shall see more blood and more dead than ever before. Then we will go to our last hunting ground happy. If the white man did not mean to cheat us out of food, the Great Father never would have sent the soldiers. There never would be any need of soldiers if the Great Father intended to be fair with us. The Great Father has done another wrong. He put a new line between the Rosebud and Pine Ridge Agencies that makes many of us leave our homes and give them to others. The Great Father broke an old treaty when he did this, and we can no longer believe the Great Father. He says to us: 'Children, you shall never be moved again unless you want to move,' and then he goes right away and moves us. We are done with promises, and now we make a promise that we will fight, and the Great Father will find that we must not break our promise. We will now be very plain with you, Christian Father, and tell you another thing, something which you may have already thought. It is this: We are not coming in now, and will not lay down our rifles, because we are afraid of the consequences. We have done wrong and we know it, and if we stop now we will be punished. The Great Father will send many of us to his big iron house to stay many moons, and we would rather die."

Father Jute urged them to be peaceable, and explained that the soldiers were not to harm the Indians, but to protect the agents; that the rations have been increased, and, if they came, General Brooke would telegraph to Washington and get permission for them to stay on this agency as they desired. The father told them they had better stop committing depredations, and they would be more easily forgiven. Finally he urged the chiefs to all come back with him. To this some of the older ones made a favorable answer, but the young ones, who were heavily in the majority, said no. The old men finally agreed that they would come in to Father Jute's house, four miles northwest of the Agency, this morning, and there meet General Brooke and tell him in person just what they had told Father Jute. This brought a renewal of bitter opposition from the majority.

Finally the young chiefs cooled off, and Two Strike, addressing Father Jute, said: "Hold your hands up to the Great Spirit and tell us as though you were about to start on your journey to the last hunting grounds of the red man whether what you say to us from General Brooke be true, and that we will not be harmed if we come in simply to talk with General Brooke." Father Jute says he complied with this request, when all the chiefs extended their hands toward heaven, and, with great solemnity, promised they would come.

Aggressive Silver Men.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A proposition for a compromise on the silver question, which is represented as emanating from the Executive Mansion, has been laid before the silver men of both Houses. This proposition is that Congress pass a bill at this time instructing the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase $13,000,000 or $15,000,000 worth of silver, with which the market is said to be stocked at present. This proposition meets with the approval of conservative men in both Houses; but the advocates of free coinage feel so confident of their ability to put a free coinage bill through Congress at this session that they do not seem inclined to accept it. Much interest is manifested by the members of the House, and particularly the Western members, in the appointment of the Chairman of the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures to succeed Conger, who resigned to become Minister to Brazil.

Wickman of Ohio is senior member of the committee, but his views on the silver question do not coincide with those of Speaker Reed.

Walker of Massachusetts is the next member in point of seniority, and he supports the Speaker in opposition to free coinage.

It is the opinion of the members of the Coinage Committee that Reed will select a Chairman from outside the committee.

A Railroad Strike.

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Dec. 6.—The strike of the yard brakemen and switchmen at Benwood, on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, still continues. The Wheeling and Connellsville divisions are badly blocked. This morning the railroad company attempted to move the freight, but have so far succeeded in sending out only two trains. The officials of the road say they will be able to raise the blockade within the next twenty-four hours.

Thought To Be Fatally Shot.

By Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Cyrus Donato, age twenty-one, was probably fatally shot this morning by Louis Palma, an Italian fruit dealer. Donato was employed in his father's grocery and Palma charged him with interfering with his business. A fight ensued, in which shooting occurred, a bullet entering Donato's left side. Palma is still at large, but a large force is hunting him.

Congressional Committee at Work.

By Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—The Congressional Committee on immigration to-day paid a visit to the Pacific mail dock and witnessed the embarkation of about eight hundred Chinese on the steamer Belgic, for Hongkong. Afterwards the Committee returned to the Appraiser's building and resumed the taking of testimony.

Heavy Gold Demand.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—A London dispatch says there is a heavy demand for gold from New York. The first shipment is just announced, $250,000 in gold having been forwarded to-day, and it is probable that additional parcels will be shipped next week.

Foreclosure Proceedings.

By Associated Press.
COLUMBUS (O.), Dec. 6.—A suit was entered in the United States Circuit Court to-day by the Merchants' Trust Company of New York, against the Zanesville, Wooster & Marion Railroad to foreclose a mortgage to secure $3,500,000 in bonds.

Lots of Diphtheria.

All Hands Drowned.

By Associated Press.
HALIFAX, Dec. 6.—The schooner which drifted ashore at Piquet Forks last Thursday was the Walrod of Pockport, N. S. All hands were drowned.

Two Shipwrecked Crews Saved.

Special to the GAZETTE.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—The steamer Coos Bay arrived this morning from Fort Bragg, Cal., bringing the crews of the steamer South Coast, which went ashore at Fort Bragg during a gale on December 3d, and the schooner Abbie, which went ashore at Caspar on the same day.

The South Coast was anchored opposite the south side of the wharf on the night in question, and the fury of the storm, which caused the waves to break over her at times, varied her fastenings and drove her around upon the rocks. An examination subsequently showed that there was a hole punched in her bottom. As soon as the weather moderated an attempt was made to get her off the rocks, but when the Coos Bay left she was still in the same position, and it is feared she will prove a total wreck. The engine and machinery, however, can be saved.

Captain Higgins, his mate and chief engineer remained with the vessel. The Abbey was moored under a lumber chute at Caspar during the storm, but her lines also parted, causing her to go ashore. There is a possibility of her being saved.

A Chinese Murder Case—A Suicide.

Special to the GAZETTE.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—Tarm Poi, one of the Chinamen convicted of hacking to pieces a mongolian named Fong Hayon on June 23, 1889, was up for sentence in Judge Van Dyne's Court this morning, but his counsel succeeded in having his sentence deferred for another week. Ho Wah Ching, the other Chinaman arrested for the murder, was acquitted, and the same witnesses who were instrumental in bringing about his acquittal were the same men who gave the testimony which convicted Tarm Poi. There is a strong belief that the latter is innocent, and the matter is about to be presented to the Governor.

James McGrath, a teamster, shot himself through the head this morning. He was single and 24 years of age. His father attributes the act to an unsound mind.

It is reported that a grain dealing firm in Liverpool has failed.

Cleveland's Minstrels.

The New York Mail and Express says: The Cleveland Colossal Colored Minstrels drew a large audience last evening, and gave a performance of remarkable excellence. From start to finish the program is brisk and sparkling, and continuous applause testified heartily appreciation. The performance is quite different from the usual minstrel entertainment, novelty predominating. The company is strong in every respect, and every performance will add new admirers. To appear at McKissick's Opera House next Wednesday evening.

WHILE the tariff bill was under discussion in the House of Representatives, Congressman Niedringhaus, a protectionist from Missouri, said:

"Mr. Chairman, as we are about to vote upon this bill, I wish to draw attention to a statement made by my colleague from Missouri [Mr. Bland] on Saturday last, wherein he proposes that under the rules my vote as a Representative may be challenged, being directly interested in Protection. Now, let me state that I am not interested in this bill personally. I could to-day look up my factory in the United States, go to Germany, where I could hire three men for one here who would work twenty per cent. more time; I could there manufacture my goods, import and pay the duties imposed under the McKinley bill, and make twenty-five per cent. more than I can make by manufacturing in the United States. [Applause.] This only verifies my statement made at the outset of this discussion, to the effect that the manufacturers do not ask for protection except for labor, and that only on the strength of protecting a scale of wages at least three times higher than that of Germany can be maintained."

THE new Constitution in Mississippi disfranchises every voter who cannot understand the document when read to him. In our judgment, says the Salt Lake Tribune, that is an impeachment to both the honesty and intelligence of the men who framed that Constitution. We don't believe that the Constitution itself is constitutional. We don't believe that half the white and educated men of Mississippi, would agree upon the meaning of the instrument. We believe lawyers will wrangle over it for years to come. We believe the adoption of such a Constitution was simply a cowardly effort to make it possible for the men who have control of the elections to say that the most ignorant white man in the State understands the Constitution, and the most intelligent colored man does not. If Mississippi keeps on in that way she will drift back to barbarism inside of fifty years.

THE Carson Appeal editorially says: Millie Panhorst, the San Francisco girl who shot and killed the brute that ruined her, should be held up to the world as a benefactor to womankind. All along the streets we find these unprincipled curs who spend their idle moments in scheming for the ruin of some young girl they know to be pure. Miserable whelps who live in such channels of thoughts and that have such degraded regard for virtue ought to be shot, and the person who does the work should be, as Millie Panhorst has been, acquitted by the jury.

THE Wellesley College girls have been measured, and the average waist measure of the 1,100 students was found to be 24.2 inches. The physicians declare that this is too small for health.

ANGLOMANIA is on the increase. It seems strange, does it not, that the people of this country, who brag so of their independence and originality, should ape old England's customs.

THE White House has been re-furnished, and the furniture throughout is of American make. It was such legislation as the McKinley bill that made this thing possible.

THERE are now 11,000,000 men in Europe ready to be called into the field, says an exchange. Europe need never lack football material as long as those men last.

AMERICAN beef is gaining favor in Hamburg, and a great deal is being sold there. Can't something be said about the McKinley bill in connection with this?

THE anxiety of the New York Mugwumps to honor David B. Hill by giving him a six-years' term in the United States Senate is pathetic.

THE VETERAN'S STORY.

His Escape from the Prison Pen at Salisbury, N. C.

I was one of the crowd of Union prisoners which dug the long tunnel and escaped from the prison pen at Salisbury, N. C. said a veteran to a New York Sun writer. Those of us who had worked the hardest had the first show on the night when we broke through into the railroad cut. As fast as we got out we took different directions, as had been planned. I went up the Yadkin river, hoping to get into Virginia. I had a $20 gold piece—one which I had carried in my boot heel for three months unknown to any one. It was given me by a citizen of Salisbury in exchange for $5,000 worth of Confederate gold bonds.

I made fair progress to the North that night and the next day. As evening came again I was forced to stop at a farm-house and ask for something to eat. My request was readily granted, and when I rose to go the man of the house observed:

"Stranger, they say a lot of Yanks got clean out of the pen at Salisbury the other night."

"Is that so?"

"And they say scattered over the country like so many rabbits."

"Yes?"

"And they say that whoever brings one back gets a hundred dollars."

"Well, I reckon I'll hitch up to the cart and drive you back."

"What! Do you take me for an escaped Yankee prisoner?" I exclaimed.

"Sartin we do," replied the farmer and his wife in chorus.

"You are greatly mistaken. Would a Yankee prisoner have this about him?"

I laid the gold on the table. Perhaps it was the first twenty either had ever seen. It seemed a fortune to a poor family.

"I'm going to leave it with you," I continued. "You can give me some meat and meal and a bed-quilt for it."

They were perfectly satisfied of my identity and where I had come from, but the man held the gold in his hand and said:

"Mother, he can't be no Yank."

"In co'se he ain't," she replied.

"He can't be a Confederate contractor lookin' after hogs an' co'n."

"I reckon."

"An' it's our dooty to help he'un get through."

"Then you put up the stuff fur him, while I tell him the best route, an' in case any sojers call here an' ask if we've seen any of them Yankee prisoners, we've seen a Yank, but he ain't no Yank."

I was captured near Rockford, and returned to the pen, but it was no fault of the people who gave me such a lift on my way.

CHARLIE'S MUSTACHE.

It Was Very Small, But Its Owner Was Very Proud of It.

A young man and his girl were at the People's Theater the other night, says Texas Siftings. The young man carried his head on one side, it being forced into that position by the weight of a very tender mustache, which was composed of seven hairs upon one side and eleven upon the other side of his nose. The comedian on the stage had brought a laugh by some allusion to a boy's first shaving encounter with a barber, when the young man leaned over to his girl and whispered:

"That's true to life, I can tell you."

"How do you know?" inquired the girl.

"How do I know?" he repeated, in a whisper; "why, by experience, of course; that was the way with me when I first got shaved."

"When was that?" she asked, innocently.

"Oh, before I raised my mustache," he returned, moving uneasily.

"What mustache?" she queried, a little surprised.

"What mustache do you suppose?" he retorted, turning red.

"Why, Charlie," whispered the girl, "I never saw any mustache. Do you mean—"

"Never mind what I mean," hissed the young man through his front teeth, and became silent. There was lots of fun in the play, but Charlie never laughed again. He took the young woman home, but on the following Sunday night he went to see another girl.

WESTERN CIVILITY.

A Neat Compliment Paid a Pretty Girl by a Bashful Cowboy.

Here is a very neat little story, from the St. Louis Republic, illustrative of the fact that even the wild and woolly West can produce a natural-born Chesterfield upon occasion. At a party given last winter was a bashful cowboy, who had not been in civilized society for several years. He was a good-looking fellow, and one of the young ladies present kindly took an interest in him and tried to make him feel at ease. He fell desperately in love at once and the hostess noticing this encouraged him all she could. In leaving the house the young lady who had taken a friendly interest in the cowboy forgot her overshoes, and the hostess told the young Loebias from the plains that he might return them to the girl if he wished.

The hostess leaped at the chance, and presented herself in due time at the young lady's house. She was surprised to see him but greeted him cordially. "You forgot your overshoes last night," said he awkwardly, handing her the package.

She thanked him and opened it.

"Why, there's only one overshoe here," she exclaimed.

"Yes, Miss—," said the blushing vaquero, earnestly. "I'll bring round the other one to-morrow, and I only wish to God, Miss, that you were a centipede."

Mrs. Smart's Nine Husbands.

Mrs. Smart, a woman living in Grayson County, Tex., has a character synonymous with her name. She is now living with her ninth husband. She is fifty-one years of age and remarkably well preserved. In her youth she was noted for her beauty. Four of her husbands were killed in the Confederate army. Another was sent to prison for fifteen years. Two subsequent husbands died, and then a lumberman whom she wedded was out to pieces in a saw-mill. What her present husband's fate will be is not yet determined. She has eleven of her own children.

Another Golden Opportunity.

Reno is the birth-place of one of the most successful and far-famed proprietary medicines that the world has ever known, which has not only made its promoters famous, but rich as well.

Another remedy of equal or superior merits, and destined to attain proportionate success and fame, claims Reno for its home. To secure the speedy realization of this, the confidence and co-operation of our citizens in all that is needed. The stock-holders of the California Cephaline Company are now open at Pinniger's drug store and contain the names of some of Nevada's most influential citizens and business men. Parties wishing to subscribe for stock should do so at once by applying to the Secretary, or to Rev. J. W. Pendleton, President.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. WISEWELL'S SCOTTISH SYRUP should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Two-cent-five-cent bottle.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The circulation of the blood quickened and enriched—bears life and energy to every portion of the body; appetite returns; the hour of rest brings with it sound repose. This can be secured by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla.

"What mustache do you suppose?" he retorted, turning red.

"Why, Charlie," whispered the girl, "I never saw any mustache. Do you mean—"

"Never mind what I mean," hissed the young man through his front teeth, and became silent. There was lots of fun in the play, but Charlie never laughed again. He took the young woman home, but on the following Sunday night he went to see another girl.

WESTERN CIVILITY.

A Neat Compliment Paid a Pretty Girl by a Bashful Cowboy.

Here is a very neat little story, from the St. Louis Republic, illustrative of the fact that even the wild and woolly West can produce a natural-born Chesterfield upon occasion. At a party given last winter was a bashful cowboy, who had not been in civilized society for several years. He was a good-looking fellow, and one of the young ladies present kindly took an interest in him and tried to make him feel at ease. He fell desperately in love at once and the hostess noticing this encouraged him all she could. In leaving the house the young lady who had taken a friendly interest in the cowboy forgot her overshoes, and the hostess told the young Loebias from the plains that he might return them to the girl if he wished.

The hostess leaped at the chance, and presented herself in due time at the young lady's house. She was surprised to see him but greeted him cordially. "You forgot your overshoes last night," said he awkwardly, handing her the package.

She thanked him and opened it.

"Why, there's only one overshoe here," she exclaimed.

"Yes, Miss—," said the blushing vaquero, earnestly. "I'll bring round the other one to-morrow, and I only wish to God, Miss, that you were a centipede."

Mrs. Smart's Nine Husbands.

Mrs. Smart, a woman living in Grayson County, Tex., has a character synonymous with her name. She is now living with her ninth husband. She is fifty-one years of age and remarkably well preserved. In her youth she was noted for her beauty. Four of her husbands were killed in the Confederate army. Another was sent to prison for fifteen years. Two subsequent husbands died, and then a lumberman whom she wedded was out to pieces in a saw-mill. What her present husband's fate will be is not yet determined. She has eleven of her own children.

WELL KNOWN.

A Man Who Don't Advertise Because Everybody Knows Him Now.

"Oh, it don't pay me to advertise," remarked a well-known "business" man to a GAZETTE representative a day or two ago. "I'm so well known you know."

"Possibly you may be too well known," suggested the reporter, "and do not care to have your business called to public attention."

"Oh, not that," replied the fellow, "but you know that everybody knows me now, so what's the use of paying out money for advertising?"

At this point a stranger dropped in and inquired for an article that the reporter knew retailed in any honest house in town for 50 cents, and was surprised to hear the dealer say the article in question was 65 cents.

"I'll take it," replied the stranger. "But why should you pay this man 65 cents for an article that Martin will sell you for 50 cents?" chipped in the GAZETTE man.

"Well, I supposed this was an honorable man," replied the stranger. "But where is Martin's?" he asked. Directing him where to find Martin's, he left the individual who was "so well known" looking a bit crest-fallen.

As the reporter left the store he invited him to call around again, and as the invitation was not accepted, the fellow blew into the office the day it was storming so hard and inquired the price of advertising space.

He was given a civil answer, but reminded that it would do no good to advertise an article for 50 cents and when it was called for ask 65 cents for it.

He angrily turned on his heels with the remark "I'll see you again," and left the office no doubt wishing that he was not quite so well known.

This might apply to a good many in Reno, but it only refers to the business man who is "so well known," and the shoe will fit him altogether too close.

DOUGLAS COUNTY NEWS.

Mr. Arnold is a graduate of the Normal School at San Jose, and has taught in California, but since September last has been teaching in the Reno public schools. A vacation of one week has been declared, awaiting the arrival of the new Principal, who will open the Grammar department next Monday.

Hogs From Omaha.

W. S. Bailey returned yesterday from the East. He brought with him a carload of hogs from Omaha. They were nearly all of the Berkshire family. Taking the carload as a whole, they were the finest lot of hogs this reporter ever saw. Mr. Bailey will use them all for his market here. By the way, when is the time coming when Nevada is to have an over-production of pork? The GAZETTE hopes for an answer from some of the "anti-improvement" journals—the Carson Tribune, for instance.

Keogh Again Challenged.
Thomas McCormack of Carson, through the Appeal, challenges Wm. Keogh of Virginia City to a fistic encounter, to a finish at any time or place the latter may mention. The challenger offers to put up $1,500 to his opponents $1,000, and agrees that the fight may be conducted under any rules most convenient to the challenged party. Man and money await response at Dempsey's saloon in Carson City.

RARE PRESENCE OF MIND.

How a Sea Captain Saved the Lives of His Passengers and Crew.

There are few stories better illustrating rare presence of mind than that told of a sea Captain, who died not long ago—a man formerly in command of a ship in which passengers were carried from New York to some of the islands. On one occasion the ship caught fire, and the passengers and crew were compelled to take hurriedly to the boats. The Captain remained perfectly cool throughout all the confusion and fright of the embarkation, and at last every one but himself was gotten safely into the boats. By the time he was ready to follow the passengers were almost wild with fear and excitement. There was likely to be a panic, and the Captain called out to the sailors to hold on a minute, and taking a cigar from his pocket, coolly lighted it with a bit of burning shroud which had fallen from the rigging to his feet. Then he descended with deliberation and gave the order to push off. "How could you stop to light a cigar at such a moment?" he was asked, afterward, when some of the passengers were talking over their escape. "Because," he answered, "I saw that if I did not do something to divert the minds of those in the boat, there was likely to be a panic, and over-crowded as it was, there was danger of its being upset. The act took but a moment, but it attracted the attention of everybody. You all forgot yourselves, because you were thinking about my curious behavior, and we got off safely."

LOOKING UP THE COUNTRY.

Johnson Sides' Interest in the Indian Trouble Unabated.

Johnson Sides came to the GAZETTE office this morning and addressed a representative of the paper thus: "Say, I want a map of whole 'Meriky. I want to see where trouble all is."

The reporter showed him a map of the United States, and asked if that would do him.

"Yash, him pooty good," said Johnson, as he and his two dusky friends began scanning the colored paper carefully.

"What you call um?" asked Johnson, pointing to the State of Maine.

"That is Maine," said the reporter. "Yash, him Maine, but where you fin' um Dakot?" was Sides' next question.

Having that part of the country pointed out to him, he began an animated conversation with his two companions.

"Bimeby Uncle Sam he come down an' take away all gun an' bryting; den Injun heap mad, but no can shoot um white man," said Johnson, with a chuckle of satisfaction. "All Injun this State heap good Injun—no like fight, no like kill um anybody. Goo' by."

Richest in the World.

Senator Hearst's gold mine is the largest in a group of mines near Deadwood, South Dakota, and is said to be the richest mine in the world. Three thousand miners are employed upon it, and they take out from $150,000 to $200,000 every month. What is more, there is ore enough in sight, according to recent estimates, to run the present stamp mills at the mine for the next twenty years.

Struck the Golden Mean as a Blood Purifier.

The Detroit Free Press says: "Hilbard's Rheumatic Syrup, prepared by the Charles Wright Medicine Company, of this city, has struck the Golden Mean in the treatment of all blood diseases, and its success is an evidence that an honest, pure and valuable medicine, is not incapable of attracting the attention of every family. There seems to be but one opinion as to its merit as a family medicine. This is the real secret of the success of this wonderful remedy. Its perfect and speedy action, in removing all impure and poisonous matter from blood, no home should be without it, as a thorough and effectual blood purifier for young and old. A ST. LOUIS PHYSICIAN.

He Tests a California Production.—His Report.

A St. Louis gentleman whose affliction was sick headaches was so surprised at their cure by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, that he called it to the attention of a relative, who happened to be Dr. F. A. Barrett, the well-known St. Louis physician of 2602 Shennadoh Street. The doctor saw at once that it differed from the potash preparations in that it was purely vegetable, and becoming interested, began a series of investigations, and in a subsequent letter candidly admitted its curative properties, and says:—

"Wishing to test its virtues further, I used it in my own family, and prescribed it for patients who required a general system regulator. As a result, I can say it is an almost absolute cure for constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, indigestion, and sick headaches. These troubles usually come from a disturbed condition of the stomach and bowels, and Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the best laxative and stomach regulator I have ever seen, and as a general system corrective is almost perfect."

Women Who Have Recently Won Considerable Distinction.

Feats Accomplished by a German Traveler and His Wife—Mrs. Littledale's Adventures in Asia—Mountains Explored by Miss Dowie.

Several women have won considerable distinction within the past few months in the way of mountain climbing, says the New York Sun. Mount Clarence, the great summit on the mountain Fernando Po, near the west coast of Africa, was recently ascended by a German traveler and his wife, who passed unscathed among the Bube villages that have been such a terror to all explorers. These people have been regarded as a mysterious people simply because they were not known. Several men have tried in vain to penetrate the central portion of the island and ascend Mount Clarence, but a European woman was in the first party that got to the top.

Another remarkable journey, of which news has just come, is that of Mrs. Littledale and her husband, who have crossed the great Central Asiatic range of the Hindu Kush. Here are the loftiest peaks of the globe, though this chain of mountains, which a woman has now helped to conquer, has attracted less attention than the Himalayan range lying to the East, on account of its inaccessibility and the supposed hostility of the tribes. The only explorers who have been in this region are native Indian surveyors, sent out by the Indian Government in the guise of peddlers and merchants, and we have depended upon their reports for our information about this country.

It is not yet known how Mr. and Mrs. Littledale succeeded in getting over these mountains, but a telegram from Calcutta announces that their journey has been safely completed. They crossed the mountains at a point a little northwest of Cashmere. This is undoubtedly the first time in Central Asia that a white woman was with the party which did the pioneer exploring in a region that was supposed to be inaccessible to white men.

The most remarkable woman climber of the past year is Miss Mene Dowie, an adventurous Scotch girl, who spent last summer traveling alone among the Carpathian mountains, in the northeast part of Austro-Hungary, on horseback and on foot, with no companion except the peasant who attended her. For ten weeks in this wild region she lived among the Gallaian peasants, continuing entirely to their ways of life. Night after night, when up in the high mountains, she slept in the open air, wrapped up in a cloak. She had reason to know now and then in her solitude that wildcats, bears and wolves exist in considerable number in the Carpathians, and are rather more curious to find out all about a stranger than is comfortable for her. But she says there is no real obstacle to a girl traveling alone from London to the Russian frontier.

Probably not one girl in ten thousand, however, would think there was any fun in traveling as Miss Dowie did. She seldom wore shoes when climbing the mountains, for they were slippery, and she found she could ascend a steep slope in greater comfort barefoot, with her footgear slung around her neck. She met with a number of accidents, and was very near drowned once while bathing. But she returned home very brown and healthy and very enthusiastic over her unique summer tour. She says she is going back to Galicia again, but she hopes that her description of the journey will induce any other girl to follow her example, for the hardships of the journey, she thinks, would in most cases more than offset its pleasant and romantic features. She says no one can travel among these mountain peaks without believing that Poland will one day be on her feet again. The people cling to their love of the old nationality and have unshaken faith that Poland will one day again wear its crown.

The young lady read a paper on her summer's adventures before the British Association. The paper showed how admirably a young lady may study geography, for it was full of interesting information, and the great geographer, Ravenstein, said, in moving a vote of thanks, that Miss Dowie was more entitled to be called a real geographer than many of those who went much further afield.

In our own White mountains not a few ladies perform feats of mountain-climbing which a good many of their brethren do not care to undertake. Some people who have gone up Tuckerman's ravine and found their feet weighing fifty pounds apiece at the top, have wondered that any woman should attempt this hardest of Mount Washington climbs; but for weeks at a time in the season hardly a day elapses that one or more ladies do not make this ascent, clambering in the last one thousand feet over bare rocks where the route is indicated only by daubs of white paint. A few ladies also have made the journey over the northern peaks to the top of Mount Washington, while any number of them have traveled along the bridge path leading from the Tip-top House to Crawford's. Every season sees quite a number of women in the White mountains who pride themselves upon their capabilities as mountaineers, and there is nothing in the New Hampshire peaks that they will not attempt.

A Use for Cotton Stalks.

About a year ago a young lawyer in Augusta, Ga., began experiments with cotton stalks. The pulp and skin were removed from the stalks. The fiber was then placed in a carding machine from which was secured an article of the tenacity and color of jute but yank. This product he shipped to himself at Paterson, N. Y., where it was woven into a bagging that is said to be less inflammable than jute, and while equally durable is of less cost. Cotton planters see an article in view that will help them to boycott jute bagging, and also a profitable market for cotton stalks, which they have always had trouble to dispose of.

In Idaho's Court.

In a case before a Tennessee justice one of the lawyers made fun of the other's grammar. The court at once arose and said: "Mr. Perkins, if you are one of them what thinks grammar runs this court you're barking up the wrong tree. If I hear any more such remarks I'll fine you ten dollars."

Cigarettes and Cigars Enjoyed by Emperors, Queens and Princesses.

The Empress Elizabeth, of Austria, smokes from thirty to forty Turkish and Russian cigarettes a day, and for many years, says London Tid-Bits, it has been her inveterate custom to puff away after dinner at a strong Italian cigar, one of those with a straw running through it, and which is brought to her with her cup of Turkish coffee every evening on a gold salver.

On her writing table are always a large silver box of repouse work filled with cigarettes, a match-box of carved Chinese jade, and a capacious ash-receiver. Almost mechanically her Majesty lights cigarette after cigarette as she sits in her great writing-room at Godollo, which is fitted up with carved oak panels and Gobel tapestries; the somber hue of the walls being relieved here and there by trophies of the chase.

The Czarina of Russia, who is likewise one of the vassals of King Nicotine, smokes in a somewhat more indolent and almost Oriental fashion. Stretched on the silken cushions of a broad, low divan, at Gatchina, she follows dreamily with her beautiful, dark eyes the rings of blue smoke that her crimson lips part to send upward into the perfumed air of her boudoir—a boudoir which she calls her "den," and which is copied from one of the loveliest rooms of the Alhambra, with palms, raising their banners against the gorgeous colors and diaphanous gold of the walls.

Queen Marguerite, of Italy, is another of the royal ladies who see no harm in the use of tobacco. Her flashing black eyes look laughingly through fragrant clouds of smoke, and she is wont to declare that her cigarette is more essential to her comfort than anything else in life.

Christina, Queen Regent of Spain, is a great advocate of tobacco. She consumes a large quantity of Egyptian cigarettes, and there is nothing that her little "Bubi," his Majesty, King Alfonso XIII, enjoys more than when his mother permits him to strike a match and apply the flame to the end of her cigarette.

The smoking paraphernalia of the beautiful ex-Queen Natalie of Serbia is of the most elaborate and magnificent description, while the post-Queen of Roumania, so well known in the literary world under the pseudonym of "Carmen Sylva," is content with the gold cigarette case suspended to her chateleine. The Comtesse de Paris, the Queen de France, is addicted to mild Havanna of delicious flavor, and her daughter, Queen Amelia, of Portugal, is a source of considerable fortune to the manufacturers of cigarettes at Dresden.

A DELIGHTFUL WOMAN.

How a Wisconsin Farmer's Daughter Treated a Proposal.

Miss Kate Cummings, who lives with her parents on a farm in Winnebago, Wis., can beat any man in the county moving hat, says the New York World. She wears boots and a waterproof, with a felt hat and linsey-woolsey dress, and, mounted on the mowing-machine, she is as handsome as a Hebe. Kate has had a great many admirers, and the admirers have had a great many difficulties to overcome.

One of them had the audacity to swear out a warrant for her arrest on the charge of assault with malicious intent. Rufus Sloan was hired by Mr. Cummings for harvest work, and while turning the new-mown hay he fell in love with Kate. Every time she came around on her chariot, pushing the sickle a little further into the standing grain, Rufus would take his hat off and throw a handful of kisses at her. The young lady did not like this performance and told him so.

Then Rufus asked her to pull up, as he had something to say to her. She drew the horses in, pushed her red hair behind her ears, and with fire in her blue-gray eyes said:

"Well?"

Then Rufus planted his pitchfork in the stubble for a rest, told her he was a wife, and offered her the position. She curled up her nose, wrinkled her brow with scorn, and answered:

"You? Bah!"

This was too much for Rufus, who jabbed her in the side with his pitchfork. Kate screamed; the horses started. In his excitement the irate swain got on the sickle side of the mower. The lady saw her advantage, seized the lines, and chased the fleeing lover all over the field, screaming that she would mow him down and cut his ugly legs off.

LAZINESS DOESN'T PAY.

The One Great Secret of Success Is to Be Found in Activity.

The sun never sleeps in his course. Light is constantly streaming over the earth. In the great workshop of the universe, Nature is very busy with those processes which are to robe the earth with her carpet of green and fill the air with the odor of flowers. Inactivity there would soon bring trouble and death.

In life, too, one secret of success is found in activity, says the Souverville Journal. "Not a day without a line" was the motto of a great reformer—one of the grandest men our civilization has known. Eight times did the greatest of Grecian orators copy the history of Thebides to perfect himself in that great master's style. Franklin laid the foundations of his greatness by using the little bits of leisure time which he could save at dinner hours and evenings while working as a printer's boy. Kirke White learned Greek as he walked from his lodgings to the lawyer's office, where he was employed as a clerk. Pennsylvania's greatest astronomer learned to calculate eclipses by using the bits of time when, as a plough-boy, his horses rested, and by figuring out his problems on his plough handles. Eliza Burritt achieved wonders in the fields of learning by gathering up bits of knowledge as it stood by his side, with an open book before him or while he rested from severe bodily toil.

The French have a proverb which says, "Step by step one goes very far." In our tongue we have a saying: "Constant dropping will wear away a stone." Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton declared: "What man wants is not talent but purpose; not power to achieve, but the will to labor."

Boys, do you see the moral? It's work that tells. Whether with the hands or with the brain, there's no success without work. Don't be lazy.

Our Family Physician

Our Family Physician is a book of 100 pages, written by a physician, and contains all the latest and best medical knowledge of the day. It is a book that every family should have.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, and in this way they all present, alike to themselves and their easy-going and different or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he prescribes his pills and potions, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all one symptom caused by some womb disorder. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages his "practice" until large bills are made. The suffering patient has no better luck. Her condition grows worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications.

A proper medicine, like Dr. Finner's Family Physician, directed to the cause would have removed the disease, dispelled all those distressing symptoms, and instituted comfort instead of prolonged misery. It's the only medicine for the weakness, irregularities and painful derangements peculiar to women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee that it will give satisfaction in every case, or price paid for it will be promptly refunded.

DR. FINNER'S PILLS regulate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels. One a dose. Sold by druggists. 25 cents a box.
